Body

Attached are copies of the above noted revised standard plans.

References to the type of bridge anchor section have been deleted from drawing 606.00U. This provides information which will be in conformance with the revised standard plans for bridge anchor sections provided in January of this year.

We have furnished dimensions and revised section details to clarify the interpretation of the standard drawings 614.10P for curbs, grates and bearing plates.

The above revisions are effective with the June 1990 bid opening.
